I hereby renounce the following right to study at the University of Helsinki

Faculty

Degree(s)

Degree programme and/or major subject

The decision to renounce the right to study is binding

When a student renounces their right to study, it means that the student cannot continue their studies within the here mentioned degree programme after renouncing the right to study. The only way to regain the right to study is to take part in the normal student selection process.

If the right to study is active, i.e. the student has completed the annual registration as either attending or non-attending; the right to study will be ended on the day that the waiver of the right to study is submitted.

I have read the above-mentioned terms and accept them.
